

Currently there are seven Appstore Applications that support this viewer with more expected once Hasbro release the SDK to developers. The My3D Presents App that is a free download displays 3D movie and game trailers as well as a 3D picture gallery of Transformers figures and assorted nature pictures. A 360 degree view from Santa Monica Pier is viewable with the My3D Teleport App which is also free to download. Games complete the lineup which include my3D Sector 17 (starwars like shooter) & my3D Bubble Bolt (super monkey ball clone) amongst others.

All in all the viewer shows a lot of promise and is good fun for you and the kids at the bargain price of $34.99 USD from target.com. Please note if you live outside of the U.S you will not be able to purchase from the official retailers just yet. We however found them on eBay so you may want to try your luck there. A word of caution to make sure the seller provides you the workaround to download the required Appstore apps from outside of the U.S since Apple have limited their download to U.S residents only.
