

To top it off this Google Mobile App is completely free of charge and available from the Apple Appstore. This added image detection functionality was born out of the Google Labs and is called Google Goggles. Google Goggles has actually been available for around a year on Android phones so its great to see this now available for iPhone users. To partake in this App you will need either an iPhone 3GS or an iPhone 4 running iOS4.

For more information on the Google Mobile App click here .